DAILY SENTINEL.

WASHINGTON, May 4, 1868

INTERESTING NEWS—PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S ACQUITTAL CERTAIN SENATOR FESSENDEN PREPARES AN ARGUMENT AGAINST CONVICTION.

Certain facts have come to light to-day which settle, beyond doubt, the result of the impeachment trial, and which show that the President will surely be acquitted. Senator Fessenden, who has all along been suspected by the radicals as doubtful, has, to use the language of a radical Senator, "gone clean over to the enemy." He has prepared an elaborate legal opinion, covering some twenty-five foolscap pages, on the first three articles of impeachment. The substance of this opinion is that he does not think the evidence produced before the Senate by the Managers sufficient to establish the charges alleged against the President in these articles, and he will therefore be compelled to vote for his acquittal on them. Senator Morrill, the colleague of Mr. Fessenden, hearing of this, prepared an opinion on the other side, which he took to Mr. Fessenden's rooms and read to him, with a view of meeting his objections. Mr. Fessenden, after hearing Mr. Morrill's argument, said he was not convinced, and saw no reason to change his views as set forth in the opinion he had prepared. He further signified to Mr. Morrill that he did not think the President could be justly convicted on any of the articles brought to the bar of the Senate by the Managers. Several other republican Senators here have prepared similar opinions to that of Mr. Fessenden. Senator Grimes stated openly to-day that he had neither seen nor heard anything so far that would justify him in voting for conviction, and at the close of Mr. Bingham's speech to-day he expressed his opinion that it was as good as an argument as he had heard for the President. It is conceded by the most radical members of the Senate and House that Mr. Fessenden will carry with him enough Republican Senators to acquit the President by a handsome majority. In view of this new development there is fearful demoralization in the ranks of Republicans to-night. They virtually give up the case. Many of them openly accuse Mr. Fessenden, and those who it is known will act with him, with having been bought. In addition to Mr. Morrill, several of the Maine delegation in the House have been to see Fessenden, but they report him to be inexorable and have finally given him up. Various causes are assigned by the Radicals for Fessenden's course. One story is to the effect that a new party is to be formed, of which Chase will be the head, and in which Fessenden, Grimes, Henderson, Trumbull, Anthony, and others, will be the shining lights. This party will, it is said, nominate Chase for the Presidency on what will be called the "people's ticket," and run him against Grant. I have received these facts at a late hour, and have no chance to verify them to a certainty, but they seem to come from a reliable source.

PRIMEVAL VEGETABLE LIFE.

The Revue des Deux Mondes contains a curious article by M. G. de Saporta on vegetable life during the earliest ages of the world. The strange forms of antediluvian animals have been revealed to us in various ways; a fossil bone, nay, sometimes the mere print of a paw in hardened clay, have at times been sufficient to reconstruct the traits; subsequent discoveries have proved it. The same method of investigation is now being carried on by those who are endeavoring to revive the flora which existed at a time when England, for instance, was peopled with kangaroos. A leaf, or the mere impression of one, found either in a lump of coal, or on a fragment of some hardened sediment, will at once tell the botanist to what genus of plants it is to be referred; and as observation discovers new facts, the species themselves, generally different from those of our days, are gradually distinguished and classified. It is thus we have at length reached a point from which we may pretty nearly guess what a primeval landscape looked like. Instead of the endless variety of form which lends such beauty to our plants and stately forest trees, we may picture to ourselves a uniform and gloomy prospect of dreary land, here and there interspersed with clusters of reeds, lepidodendrons, arborescent ferns, and similar straight and formal growths; but no soft grass, no daises, or other wild flowers. Generally speaking, foggy, heavy weather must have been the rule, and rains exceedingly frequent. This was during the Permian period; the Jurassic one was characterized by the prevalence of cycadeæ a family of plants much resembling the palm, and peculiarly remarkable for their very slow growth. They are now chiefly to be found under the tropics. Our present vegetation seems to have made its first appearance during the subsequent, or cretaceous period. The development of the animal kingdom was evidently subordinate to that of the vegetable one; for beasts of prey could not live without herbivora, and these could not make their appearance until there was grass for them.

THE PRESIDENT AND CONGRESS.—The Revolution, the Woman's Rights organ in New York, exercises a woman's privilege of speaking out upon every question that comes up for consideration. Here is something it says of Mr Johnson and Congress:

"There is a story of a gin or trap invented to catch lions. It was a strong cage, to be sprung over the beast; but if he was not secured, the hunter could throw it over himself as protection if the lion turned on him. Unluckily, one day it was so thrown as to catch both hunter and lion, and then it was God speed the strongest! The lion could eat the hunter, but was a caged lion still. Both Congress and the President must now abide the verdict of posterity."

OVERFLOW OF SOUTH CAROLINA RICE PLANTATIONS.—The Charleston Courier learns that all the rice plantations on the Santee river are under water to a depth of from five to seven feet. This quantity of water, however, is regarded as but the beginning of a serious overflow. The present mark is considered within three feet of the highest ever known. To see the summit of the surrounding hills in going up the river at mean tide it is necessary to look upward. This aspect is now reversed. From a stand point on the deck of the steamers their tops seem to be on a parallel with the eye.

The Bankrupt Act.

We have been requested to publish the Bankrupt Law. This is impossible. It makes a respectable volume. In order, however, that our readers may understand it, and may therefore not be liable to be imposed upon by parties, who are indifferent to the interests of others, we have taken some pains to compile from several sources the following general principles of the Act, for the benefit of all who contemplate seeking its benefits. The first of all, we advise our friends here to do, is to employ honesty what they will do, until the Law has had the counsel of a respectable and intelligent Attorney, upon whom they can rely.

1. The manifest design of the Bankrupt Law is to relieve honest, but unfortunate, debtors, whose liabilities are greater than they can pay.

2. To become a voluntary bankrupt under this Act, the debtor must owe at least $300, which, of course, he is not able to pay in full.

3. Petitioners under the Bankrupt Act are required to render a schedule of all their debts and liabilities, of every kind and description whatever and also an inventory of all their estate, both real and personal, including all property and effects of which they are possessed, or in which they may have an interest, (though not in possession) in common with certain "Forms" prescribed in the "General Orders" of the Supreme Court of the United States. These schedules, verified by the oath of the petitioner before a District Court Judge, Register in Bankruptcy, or U. S. Commissioner, must accompany the petition and, when filed, be the commencement of proceedings in Bankruptcy. If it should be found out, pending the proceedings at any time before the bankrupt is discharged, that he has, with intent to defraud, made a false or partial schedule, this would be evidence of fraud and would defeat his discharge.

4. When the petition is by a firm or copartnership, a full set of schedules of the respective estates of the members of the firm should also be added.

5. When the petition is filed, the case is immediately referred to a Register, who examines the petition and schedules annexed thereto, and if the petition be sworn to and in form, makes a certificate to that effect, to be filed with the Clerk, then adjudges the debtor a Bankrupt and issues a warrant to the messenger to summon all the creditors named in the petitioner's schedules to meet at the Register's office, at a certain time and place, to prove their claims and elect one or more Assignees to take charge of the Bankrupt's estate.

6. A creditor can, however, prove his claim at any time previous to the last dividend, which will generally be ordered subsequent to the adjudication of Bankruptcy.

7. No creditor has any standing in a Bankrupt Court until he proves his claim.

8. Creditors have no right to compel the Bankrupt to answer questions concerning the disposal of property by him acquired subsequent to filing a petition in Bankruptcy. In other words, the date of the filing of the petition by or against a debtor, is the date at which, if adjudication of bankruptcy follows, his title to any of things passes away and a new leaf is turned over." On this point decisions have been variant. The safe rule appears to be that the applicant in Bankruptcy has a perfect right to claim whatever he has made after his application, by his personal exertions, but any profits he may have made from investment or credit, may be liable to the claim of the trustee up to almost the period of his discharge.

9. The Bankrupt can apply to the Court at any time after the expiration of six months, and upon obtaining from the adjudication, for the discharge in bankruptcy, and in case no assets come into the hands of the assignee, or no debts be proved against his estate, at any time after the expiration of sixty days.

10. As soon as Assignee is elected or appointed, the Judge or Register will convey to him, by deed of assignment, all the bankrupt's property except what is exempted, viz: "Household and kitchen furniture and other necessaries not exceeding in value ($500) five hundred dollars, also his wearing apparel and that of his wife and children, and such other property not included in the foregoing as is exempt from levy and sale upon execution or other process by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt resides, to an amount not exceeding that allowed by State exemption laws in force in 1864. A safe "Counselor suggests, under this head, that the common impression that persons may become bankrupts and yet be allowed to retain their houses and lands, or other property of considerable value, is a great mistake. Under the Act, no honest Bankrupt in this State can have allotted to him, free from the operation of the Act, exceeding $700. Besides the wearing apparel of himself and family, bankrupts in this State are not entitled to homesteads under this Act.

11. If in the jury of the assignee, within twenty days after the assignment to him is made, to allot to the bankrupt such articles as are exempted, and file an inventory of the same with the value of each article so allotted, and creditors may make objection to the report of the Assignee at any time within twenty days after it is filed.

12. As to costs in bankruptcy proceedings, section 40 of the Bankrupt Act provides that the petitioner, before a warrant issues, shall deposit fifty dollars with the Register, or with the Clerk, to be delivered to the Register as a security for his fees. General order XXIX provides that the fees of the Register, Marshal and Clerk shall be prepaid or secured before they can be compelled to act. It is also provided by General order XXX, that where the debtor has no means, and can prove the fact to the satisfaction of the Court, upon application an order will be made requiring the fees in the case to be paid out of the fifty dollars deposited with the Register. If, however, there are assets, but not enough to pay the Messenger after deducting the Bankrupt's exempted property, so that nothing comes into the hands of the Assignee, the fees will have to be paid by the Bankrupt; but if the Assignee receives assets, the fees of the Messenger will be paid by him before any dividend is made among creditors.

13. Some suppose that the Register is entitled to $5.00 fee. The fees of the Register, Messenger, Clerk, and costs of publication of notices in Bankruptcy, are fixed by law, and if they demand higher fees they are liable, as in other cases of malfeasance in office. In ordinary cases of Bankruptcy, the fees may amount to $100. In some cases more, in some less—the costs depending on the amount of labor and litigation involved in each case.

14. Differences of opinion among Attorneys have existed in this State, as to the limit which the Act makes as to the time to make application in Bankruptcy. Some have supposed that no debtor will be permitted to apply for Bankruptcy after some early day in March, unless he is able to pay fifty per cent of his debts. We are assured that this is not the case. The law did not go into operation so far the purposes for which it was enacted until June 1st, 1867. It gives twelve months from that time, to all honest debtors, whatever may be the extent of their indebtedness which they cannot pay in which to present their applications. After the 1st of June next, every debtor must be able to pay fifty per cent of his indebtedness in order to a successful application in bankruptcy, unless he first obtain the consent of a majority of his creditors.

OUR STATE OFFICERS.

The Executive offices at the State Capitol are being put in complete order for the incoming Radical administration. The books are all being brought up to date and the papers so arranged that their successors, with ordinary capacity, can take hold at once. Simple duty requires that we should give a passing tribute to all of them.

The Executive ability of Gov. Worth has been fully equal to the extraordinary circumstances under which he has discharged the office. Nothing has escaped his notice and no duty has been left unattended to.—The amount of work he has performed with his own head and hands, is almost incredible. The intricate and difficult questions he has examined and settled, required not only good sense but a knowledge of the law and of executive duty, of a superior character. If his letter book were published, it would constitute a most able, interesting and important history of the times. The public interests he has carefully guarded and as far as he could do so in these disjointed times, he has fearlessly and ably defended civil liberty and constitutional government on all occasions. A few of Gov. Worth's appointments have been complained of and apparently with good reason, but those who know all the facts which have influenced him, exculpate him from all blame, believing that reasons of sound public policy have guided him in his entire action.

Gov. Worth has been greatly assisted in his arduous labors by the efficient and untiring efforts of his private Secretary, Maj. Wm. H. Bagley, who has shown himself an able officer. His office has been kept in fine condition and will be cheerfully surrendered to his successor. Other young men whose services have been needed have rendered excellent service in this department, of whom Mr. George H. Snow deserves honorable mention.

The Public Treasurer's office is fully up to time. The State has never had a superior officer in this department, to Kemp P. Battle, Esq. He has devoted unremittingly his time and talents to the difficult and responsible duties of his office. The subjects of revenue and finance he has investigated as fully as it was possible during the period he has been in office, and he has illustrated the philosophy as well as the practice of these difficult matters in the administration of his office. We regard it as a great error in our system that the Public Treasurer of a State should be liable to removal for any other cause than for malfeasance in office. The principles of revenue and finance require a long course of study and practice to arrive at an approach to perfection. Should he at any time propose a system which does not work well, the General Assembly has the correction in its own hands at once, but the difficulty of filling that office by thoroughly qualified men is very great. Mr. Battle has however reduced the business of his office to such system, that an intelligent and competent successor may take hold where he leaves it.—In the clerical duties of his office, he has been greatly assisted by his Chief Clerk, Mr. Donald W. Bain, than whom no better officer can be found in the country. He is perfectly familiar with all the details of the office as well as of the Comptroller's Department, and his integrity and industry are not the least of his qualifications. Mr. Page also, though a very young man has exhibited very high qualities as a Clerk.

The office of Secretary of State cannot be better filled than it has been by R. W. Best, Esq. His careful attention to the minutiæ of the office, his forecaste in keeping up his supplies and in attending promptly to all its duties, cannot be excelled. If his successor should make half as good an officer, there will be but little room for complaint. He has had excellent assistance from his Clerk, Mr. Syme, who has shown himself to be very competent.

The duties of Comptroller have been ably performed by Mr. Burgin. He found the office in bad condition as we learn, but his constant application has enabled him to reduce the office to system and it will be ready for his successor. He has made a most obliging and competent officer.

We are not sensible, that any personal or partizan feelings have prompted us to say a word in the foregoing remarks. Our personal observation and acquaintance with the conduct of the various offices have enabled us to speak advisedly, and what we have said is no empty compliment, but comes from our own convictions of what is due to the several officers.

CONGRESS.—This body is making itself the butt of the ridicule and contempt of the whole country. The scenes which have been permitted, both in the Senate and House, of late, would disgrace the most ordinary legislative body in any country.—The contrast between the former and present character of Congress is so great that it hardly seems possible that we are the same people. The disgraceful conduct of the guano impeachers, and especially of Butler in his conduct of the impeachment trial, and the more recent conduct of Donnelly, Washburne, Brooks and others in the House, are enough to make one ashamed of his American citizenship. Our space has been insufficient to publish such scenes, and we are glad of it.

Mr. Wells, now acting, has been nominated by the Radical Convention as the candidate for Governor of Virginia.

A meeting of the citizens of Wilson county has been called to form a Democratic Club.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

Prior to and immediately after the late election, we found existing a general apprehension that the Conservatives would be beaten by extensive frauds. While we saw that the allowing of men of all classes to vote on affidavit and that the continuance of some of the Registrars to allow men to register privately after the days designated by Gen. Canby's order for registration, left open a wide door for fraud in the voting of improper persons, yet we were so confident of defeating the odious Constitution, that we, on more than one occasion, expressed no apprehension of defeat from excessive frauds. Since the election we have felt that there was but one real cause for our defeat, and that was because there were too few real white men in the State to vote with us.

In preparing our State items for last Monday's issue, which is usually done from our correspondence and State exchanges, we copied an extract from a letter from a respected correspondent at Pittsboro', in which he alluded to election frauds and attributed improper conduct to a Mr. Stahl and a Mr. Ball, both registrars in the county of Chatham. The letter was on business, and after mentioning the business matter the writer proceeded to state, what was copied in Monday's Sentinel as coming from a correspondent in Chatham. On Tuesday Mr. Ball called on us and expressed his surprise at our publishing it, alledging that he had been grossly slandered. We replied that we felt justified in publishing the statement as it came from a respectable gentleman, but if he had been assailed unjustly our columns were open to him. He then demanded the name of the author, when we told him we could not give the use of his name without first writing to our correspondent, which we did at once.

We have just received a reply from our friend in Chatham, in which he states that he made the statements upon the authority of respectable persons, but he did not intend them for publication and that he regrets the publication. From the whole tenor of the note we are satisfied that our correspondent did not design to treat any of the parties with injustice. If our correspondent had stated that he learned the particulars stated by him, from common rumor, we should have paid no attention whatever to that portion of his note, or if he had intimated in his note that he did not wish the statement made public, we certainly would not have noticed it, but, under the circumstances, we felt at liberty to exercise an editor's license and custom to make an item. Editors are too anxious to get an "item," to be trusted with any kind of news good, bad or indifferent. As our correspondent regrets the publication, fearing he may have unwittingly done injustice to Mr. Stahl or Mr. Ball, or some one else, in mentioning the matter to us, so do we hasten, after receiving his note to disabuse our readers and to express our regret for a publication which may have done injustice to any of the parties concerned, and we beg pardon of our correspondent for being in such hot haste to get an item. We make it a rule to believe no one guilty of bad conduct without evidence, and therefore we exculpate from blame Mr. Ball or Mr. Stahl, or any one else, until the contrary is made palpable.

COTTON PLANTERS AND MANUFACTURERS.

An association has been formed in New York at a meeting held recently there, by Northern cotton manufacturers and Southern cotton planters, styled the "Cotton Planters and Manufacturers Association."—The object is to promote the mutual interests of both, by stimulating its culture, &c.

The world, it is plain, cannot now well do without cotton, though we have never entertained the extravagant ideas of those who contended that cotton was king. It has become a necessary and essential article in human consumption and enters very largely into the commerce of the world.

The climate and soil of the Southern States are evidently better adapted to the culture of good cotton than any other portion of the world. It is, moreover, very evident that the commercial and economical interests of the American people will not allow its culture to be abandoned to a large extent in the Southern States, without an earnest effort. Great as our country is, in the variety and abundance of its resources, experience has shown that the culture of no article meets so fully and largely the commercial exchanges necessary to be effected between Europe and America, as cotton, yet it is palpable that the policy of the South in the management of its products, must be totally changed if it ever expects to derive from its culture its full value.

The rapid increase of their population and the energy and skill of their people, will account in great measure for the growth of the Northern States in wealth and greatness, yet it must be confessed that those States have derived immense advantages from the manufacture of cotton and from the monopoly they have secured in becoming the commercial marts for the shipping and sale of the article. The advantages should have been mutual to the planter and manfacturer, but the policy of the South has been adverse to securing as large benefits from it as they ought to have done.

We hope that the inauguration of the Planters and Manufacturers Association will accomplish great good, yet we have long believed that the policy must be changed. It is impossible that the Northern manufacturers of cotton can become Southern planters without a transfer of their funds to the South. The Southern people cannot exchange places with them, but a mutual and greater good might be effected by the Northern manufacturers transferring their factories or a portion of their funds and machinery to the South.

The poverty of the Southern people prevents their embarking largely in manufactures; yet they have the labor, power and supplies ready to their hands. The advantages of making up the raw material into every species of goods which the best machinery can produce, must be vastly in favor of having it done where the raw material is produced. If this can be done by the aid of Northern capital and energy, the South would again very soon lift up her head, and her vast resources be soon developed.

From the National Intelligencer.

"THE JUDGMENT TO COME."

It will be remembered by every reader that in the latter part of the year 1862 a large number of Republican Senators had become so much dissatisfied with Mr. Seward's administration of the State Department, that they took, in caucus, the extreme step of addressing to President Lincoln a communication, in which they informed him that Secretary Seward no longer commanded the confidence of the Senate. This act of an irresponsible caucus did not assume the gravity of a formal demand for Mr. Seward's expulsion from the Cabinet, but was meant to place before Mr. Lincoln the alternative of either removing the obnoxious Secretary, or of forfeiting the continued support of the dominant majority in the Senate. It was the first rude essay of Radical violence in the National Legislature, by way of encroachment on Constitutional prerogatives of the Federal Executive. As such, it shocked the moral and political sense of "the whole people," without regard to party divisions, and without regard to differences of opinion in respect to the merits of Mr. Secretary Seward. And though in view of such an informal demand, Mr. Seward thought it proper, at that time, to tender his resignation to the President, Mr. Lincoln did not have the slightest hesitation in refusing to accept it, in order that he might contemptuously repel this meditated invasion of the just rights and dignities pertaining to the Presidential office. In this decision he was upheld by the concurrent voice of the nation, which had looked with indignation on such an unexampled attempt to coerce the President in the choice of his executive ministers and constitutional advisers. What the judgment of the people then was may be read in the reflections of the cotemporary press. We need quote but a single instance, and we select for the purpose the observations of that influential Republican journal, the Boston Daily Advertiser, which, in its number of December 24, 1862, animadverted on this proceeding in the following emphatic terms:

"When Cromwell sent a file of soldiers into the House of Commons and drove out the members, bidding them make way for better men, it is perfectly well understood that he perpetrated an arbitrary usurpation of power. If the President of the United States were to dismiss the Senators in like manner, there would be nobody to deny that he was guilty of a grave infraction of the Constitution; and the country would not tolerate such a thing for a moment. Yet the Senators who engaged in the movement last week to compel a change in the Cabinet were guilty of an interference with the Executive as little justified by the Constitution as would be the acts of the President if he should undertake to interfere with the Senate in the arbitrary way which we have imagined. The President appoints the heads of the great departments, and they are responsible to him. It does not fall within the functions of the Senate, much less of an informal meeting of Senators, to undertake to control him in the choice of his advisers. Had the recent attempt of this nature proved successful, a most dangerous precedent would have been established."

When the waters of the Nile overflow its banks and spread over the face of the country, it is difficult to mark the extent to which the inundation has prevailed, so wide-spread and so universal is the disappearance of all those artificial demarcations by which the configuration of the country and the proprietorship of the soil are determined. For this purpose the people of Egypt use what is called the Nilometer, a standard of measurement on whose graded scale they can read at any moment the height to which the swelling waters have risen. We use to day the foregoing appreciation of the Boston Daily Advertiser in the year 1862, as a Nilometer in which everybody may read the surging violence of that Radical inundation which now threatens to sweep away the last vestiges of the Presidential office in the person of its present incumbent. If in the year 1862 it was held by the Republican sentiment of the country that "it did not fall within the functions of the Senate to undertake to control the President in his choice of advisers," what shall be said in reprehension of that more monstrous pretension under the cover of which the Senate is now charged with the question of the impeachment of the President, because he has not wished to be coerced in his choice of his executive agents, and has merely sought to raise, for judicial determination, a case by which it may be declared whether the President, under the Constitution, ought to be so coerced by the Senate? If the whole country was shocked by the meddling intrusion of a Senatorial caucus, threatening President Lincoln with partisan disfavor in 1862, what terms can fitly describe the extremity of that partisan madness which proposes in 1868 to depose President Johnson from his high office because he has sought to protect the rights and dignities of that office unimpaired? If in 1862 the Senatorial cabal which sought to control President Lincoln in his "choice of advisers," "were guilty," in the judgment of the Boston journal, "of an interference with the Executive as little justified by the Constitution as would be the acts of the President if he should undertake to interfere with the Senate in the arbitrary way" of Cromwell—that is, by their forcible expulsion—we readily measure the stupendous guilt of those who in 1868 are pressing for the impeachment of President Johnson because he has merely sought to exercise the right enjoyed in this respect by all his predecessors in office? And if in the year 1862, before party passion had proceeded to the sad extremities of the present day, everybody could perceive and rebuke the meditated encroachment on President Lincoln's prerogatives, what will not be the tremendous obloquy which history must visit upon those who shall vote to impeach President Johnson for no other fault than that he refused to betray the constitutional rights and traditional privileges of the Presidential office?

The trial of the President under the arraignment, now approaching its final decision, will soon come to an end, but when it ends, the trial of his judges will just begin, in the light of history and of the public opinion of mankind in all the generations to come.—THAT TRIAL WILL NEVER END, and in proportion to the awards of each man's vote will be the solemn verdict of the dread assize to which each Senator must be summoned—before the American people—before the world—and before the Great White Throne in the Heavens.

The founder of Georgetown College, District of Columbia, was Rev. John Carroll, afterwards first Archbishop of Baltimore.—The first student whose name is found on the roll of the College, was William Gaston, of Newbern, North Carolina, subsequently the great jurist and statesman. The second student was Philemon C. Wederstrandt, of Maryland, afterwards Commander in the United States Navy, and at the time of his death a resident and planter of Louisiana.

IMMIGRATION AND CAPITAL.

Several of the South hating Radical journals are busily engaged in trying to prevent immigrants from coming South. We extract the following paragraph from one of them—the Cincinnati Gazette:

"Why is it, says the Gazette, capital shuns the South; that the tide of immigration neglects its natural course towards a warmer clime, and inflexibly fixes its face upon the West? It is for no other reason than because property and persons are insecure in the South; because the disposition of the people of that region does not promise the public tranquility and the protection of law which are necessary to attract capital or intelligent emigrants, nor does it afford the hope that the settlement of the country will bring those institutions which belong to civilized society, so long as the present generation remain."

It is no such thing, and the Gazette knows it as well as we do. The current of immigration was directed westward before the war, and Western capital and energy have consolidated themselves in the most imposing and efficient organizations to retain it in its present channels. They knew that the South has the advantage of the West in soil, climate, nearness to market, established customs and a settled society, and they are falsely endeavoring, and the Gazette is helping them, to offset these unrivalled advantages by a clamor about the insecurity of life in the South, the disloyalty of the people and the prevalence of Ku Kluxism, &c., &c. When the Gazette asks why capital and immigration "shun the South," this is our answer: Because conscienceless newspapers like itself seek to frighten immigrants from the South by false representations. But we are happy to say that they do not impose upon all. Much capital and many immigrants have come and continue to come Southward. Hardy and courageous immigrants like those who settled the West when it was filled with Indians and wild beasts, when it had no settled laws, no courts, no roads, no churches, no railroads, no schools, no markets and no civilization, will hardly be deterred from coming to the South where all these advantages are enjoyed and where they will find a soil and a climate surpassed nowhere on earth. We would rather have such men than those who may be frightened by the false statements of Radical newspapers.—Rich. Whig.

SEVERE HAIL STORM.—We learn that a severe hail storm passed over a portion of South Carolina on the line of the Wilmington & Manchester Rail Road on last Tuesday. In Sumter, Mar's Bluff and Marion it is said to have been extremely severe.—Mr. Gregg's store at Mar's Bluff was unroofed and his goods materially damaged. The hail stones were very large and the window glasses in many houses were broken by them at all of the above places. We fear the young crops in the track of the storm have been materially damaged.—Wil. Journal.

THE WEEKLY SUN.

THE CIRCULATION OF THE "WEEKLY SUN," always very large, has of late so increased that it may be called universal. It is shedding its light for all, in all sections—North, East, South and West. Its intercourse with the South, which was necessarily interrupted during the war, has been again resumed, and the evidences of public appreciation from that quarter are multiplying every day. When honest efforts are put forth, as in the "Weekly Sun," to meet the demand for a reliable weekly record of events and an entertaining vehicle of light literature, which, while it instructs and pleases, aims to promote virtue as well as intelligence, and to exclude every line of an impure and immoral tendency, it is cheering to receive such evidences of public appreciation as are coming to us from all parts of the country.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The "WEEKLY SUN" is published every Saturday at the following exceedingly low rates to individuals and clubs when sent from one Post Office. The money, in all cases, to be remitted in advance.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Messrs. Upchurch & Dodd offer for sale bacon and a variety of other articles just to hand.

Messrs. G. T. & W. C. Stronach have just received 50 barrels herrings.

DISTRESSING.—We regret to learn that our fellow citizen Mr. Patrick Ferrell, was discovered on Newbern Street on yesterday, having fallen, and on being reached was found to be speechless. He is supposed to have had a congestive chill or an attack of apoplexy. We have not heard from him since. We hope his illness is temporary.

The Italian Opera Troupe exhibited in Charlotte on Wednesday night. The high merits of the Troupe have not been appreciated by as large houses as was desired.

TUCKER HALL.—We have, several times, spoken of the capacity of this Hall and its adaptation to the various exhibitions and uses for which it was built. We are glad to be able to confirm this opinion by the estimate put upon it, by practised performers who have had large experience in this matter. The splendid Italian Opera Troupe who exhibited in the Hall on Monday night last, to the delight of an appreciative audience, have presented to the Messrs. Tucker the following testimonial of the acoustic qualities of the Hall, which we readily append:

"RALEIGH, N. C., May 6, 1868.

"We the undersigned members of the "Italian Opera Troupe," having had an engagement at Tucker Hall, Raleigh, N. C., do recommend it as a first class Hall and of magnificent acoustic qualities. We have found none better, and but few to equal its internal arrangement. We cheerfully recommend it to the public.

MILITARY.—The 6th Regiment U. S. Infantry have been transferred to this command and will take the place of the 8th.—Col. Clitz, of the 6th, has been assigned to this Post in place of Col. Bomford. We learn that Col. Clitz is off on furlough, and that Col. Moore will be in command of the post until Col. Clitz returns.

DULL TIMES.—Our streets look as dull as in mid-summer. We regret to learn that many of our mechanics are idle and the prospect of improvement is exceedingly discouraging. In the meantime provisions are scarce and high and money excessively scarce. We are glad to say, there is a marked change since the election in the number of colored idlers about our streets. We hope many of them have returned to their labor on the farms, and that a good crop will reward their toil.

Rev. James Stacy an aged minister of the South Carolina Conference died in Sumter, S. C. on the 1st., inst. Mr. S. was an excellent man and married in Fayetteville N. C.

THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION.—The last Legislature made an appropriation for the repairs and fitting up of the Governor's Mansion. The occupancy of the Mansion by the military and the general dilapidated condition of the premises after it was given up, determined Gov. Worth to continue to reside in his own residence. He has for some months had workmen employed refitting the Mansion. The out houses have been rebuilt, the grounds enclosed and the Mansion nearly entirely repaired, in a neat and substantial manner. The inside is not yet completed. The appropriation was insufficient to effect the necessary repairs and refurnish the Mansion. If the Legislature is prompt in making the necessary appropriation, the Mansion can be made ready in a short time for occupation.

Some of the grannies of the political world are indulging in apprehensive speculations as to the presence of several military gentlemen in this city known to be in political accord with the President, and some who are not grannies are undertaking to make capital if possible by creating sense less alarm. It is useless, for two reasons—first, because, however unjustly treated Mr. Johnson may be, he will leave his vindication to time and the sober judgment of the people; and, secondly, we do not believe he will be convicted, and will accept nothing for that short of the official record.—Ward, Express.

SUGAR.—We are glad to learn from our New York correspondent that the prospects of the sugar crop are better this year than they were last. More land has been planted, and the crop promises to be good. Last year the crop was only about 40,000 hogsheads—one tenth what it was before the war. Our imported sugar now costs us $50,000,000 in specie.—New York Times.

From the Wilson Plaindealer.

"ABSURD."

In the issue of this paper for the 21st April, was published the particulars of an outrage perpetrated upon the person of a colored woman of this town, by the members of, and in the place of meeting, of a league of oath bound negro women, aided and abetted by the officers of the Union League. These particulars were furnished us, as then stated, by a responsible party.

The article has been extensively copied by the papers of the State; and in the Raleigh Standard of the 30th April, we find the following, to the reply to the comments of the Sentinel:

"The Union League of America is confined exclusively to male citizens. It is a loyal patriotic organization, having in view only the reconstruction of the government and the good of the country. Millions of patriots belong to it, and it embraces within its folds many of the ablest and purest men of the country.

"We saw the article copied from the Plaindealer into the Sentinel. It was so absurd on its face that we did not deem it worthy of notice. But as the Sentinel has endorsed this article as true, we hereby pronounce William E Pell and Seaton Gales willfully, wicked, deliberate and corrupt liars and calumniators. Is that plain enough?"

Now, it will be remembered, that the original charged, that the women were induced to join this association "by lying and gross deception." For example, the formation of a co-operative aid and benevolent society is proposed to the female members of the negro churches, and with a view to benefit themselves, and the indigent and sick of their race; and to have a society of their own, the women are induced to join this newly formed league, when an oath is administered, solemn in its nature, to which is affixed a death penalty in case of violation, or an attempt to withdraw from the organization.

The officers of this female league are invested with unlimited powers. The officers of the Union League are ordered to afford their sisters any aid and assistance that may be called for in order that the pains and death penalties of the female league may be inflicted and carried out without delay."

As to negro women being inveigled into this league by lying and deception, we can produce an army of testimony, from women of Holden's own favorite color.

As to the officers of the Union League rendering aid and assistance to this female league, we have only to refer to the action of the grand jury of Wilson county, sitting at the Court House in this place, during the past week. At that time, Mary Stith colored, appeared before that body, and on oath, testified that an assault and battery had been committed upon her, by Winchest Blount, Samuel Gray, Andrew Newsom, Wm. Taylor, Abram Adams, Chas. Mayo, and Henry Clark, all colored, and members of the Union League. Upon the evidence of said Mary Smith, and corroborative testimony, the grand jury found a true bill against all of the above parties.

That one of the negroes is an officer of the Union League, and acted in conjunction with this female league, as such, is clearly shown by the order for the arrest of Mary, which was published in the issue of this paper of April 21st, the original of which was obtained from one of the blacks charged with its execution, and is now in our possession.

There is not one word said in our original article about women belonging to the Union League; but it was charged, that this female league was formed to act in conjunction with the Union League; and that it did so act in the case of Mary Stith, is undeniable.

Now, Holden is the chief officer of the Union League in the State of North Carolina, and of course has supervisory jurisdiction over the subordinate branches of the organization. The main facts against the League here are proven. What is the implication?

We publish the above in justice to our respected contemporary the Wilson Plaindealer. We have from principle abstained for months from noticing in any way the repeated malicious assaults of the Standard. We might have corrected its misstatements or explained any seeming impropriety of ours, on several occasions, but we have been prevented from reply by the course of that paper, and have been content to bear, in silence, any injury we might sustain from its assaults, knowing full well, that the character of the Sentinel and its editors, could never suffer in the estimation of gentlemen, by attacks from that quarter.—Sentinel.

OFFICIAL PROMULGATION OF THE RESULT OF THE ELECTION IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 4.—Gen. Canby has issued an order announcing the result of the recent election, the names of the new State officers, members of the Legislature, members of Congress and Senators, and providing for the meeting of the next Legislature on the 12th instant. The order also provides that laborers discharged for voting contrary to the wishes of their employers shall be maintained as objects of public charity by the levy of additional poor tax.

SELMA, Ala., May 4.—On the 14th of March, some young men of Eutaw, Greene County, took part in a difficulty between a man named Hill, of an infamous character, and a Mr. Pettigrew, growing out of depredations by him upon the property of Pettigrew, in which Hill was roughly handled but not seriously hurt. These young men were arrested by the military authorities and tried by a commission in this city. The finding of the Court and the action of Gen. Meade have just been made public. Four of the accused, who have been in close confinement since the trial began, were found not guilty and released. W. Pettigrew, Thomas Roberts, and James Steel, were sentenced to hard labor at Dry Tortugas for two years. Frank Mundy, Hugh White, John Callery, and Samuel Strayhorn, to hard labor at Dry Tortugas for one year.—The prisoners, handcuffed, left this evening.

"JUDGE CHASE IN DRAPERY."—Forney's Press can find nothing worse in Mr. Chase's conduct than his appearance in the Senate in the robes of office which all the justices of the Supreme Court have ever worn when sitting upon the bench. The Press calls this "the traditional millinery of the past century"—"the solemn humbug of the Middle Ages."

These robes of office offend the Radicals as much as the oath required of the Senators. They remind the Senate constantly that it is sitting as a court of justice. It is a custom not without good results that of clothing Judges in robes. Anything that has the effect of reminding a judge of the nature of his high office, is to be commended.—Rich. Dispatch.

IMMIGRATION.—The number of emigrants who arrived at Castle Garden, New York, during the first four months of the present year was 37,579, against 49,061 during the same period last year—a decrease of 11,482. The falling off is attributed to the dullness of business and the unsettled state of the country.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 7 M

Only Trumbull, of the doubtful Senators, voted against the publication of the speeches made in retirement. The vote was 20 to 28.

A South Carolina Committee, with a protest against the Constitution, will appear before the Reconstruction Committee. These remonstrances and personal representations, regarding the situation attract the attention of the moderate Republicans.

The complete city registration is whites 10,254, blacks 6,737.

The Court opened but immediately closed the doors and went into secret session.

A Massachusetts member of Congress, to-day, remarked in alluding to the impeachers, that their friends were much disturbed.

The House is in session but doing nothing.

Gen. Gillam has made a report to Gen. Grant, stating that the incomplete returns show a majority of over 1,900 for ratification of the constitution in Arkansas. If his order had been complied with the result would have been indisputable. But there are in the counties of Pulaski and Jefferson 1 900 votes which cannot be ascertained to be either for or against the Constitution. Where these irregularities occur each party charges the other with frauds.

Our Midnight Dispatches.

FROM WASHINGTON—IMPEACHMENT AND OTHER MATTERS.

WASHINGTON, May 7, P. M.

HOUSE:—A deficiency of $67,000 for the administration of the Reconstruction Acts in the third military district, was reported.

A joint resolution ordering the President to send war vessels to the Gulf of St Lawrence, to protect fishing interest and to demand a reparations for certain injuries.

In the course of the debate, Pike said, 'Who is afraid of war? The resolution asks nothing but that your laws shall be enforced." An amendment was proposed to send vessels to the coast of Ireland to take care of American interests there, was rejected. During the debate Pike thought some one called him a coward. He made some inaudible remarks, for which he was called to order.

The tariff question was introduced. Pike wanted free trade for ship building materials.

Eldridge asked if free trade was good for New England ship builders, why it was not good for the Western laborers.

After a long discussion somewhat jocular in character, but showing considerable sectional acrimony, the resolution passed 92 to 33.

Robinson offered a resolution expunging the impeachment resolutions from the Journal.

The Speaker declared it not a privileged question.

Robinson said he would bring it up again—it was a mere question of time—it would ultimately be expunged.

Stevens introduced a bill for the admission of Arkansas, which was ordered to be printed—adjourned.

Stevens' bill is as follows:

"WHEREAS, the people of Arkansas, in pursuance of the provisions of an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2nd, 1867, and the acts supplementary thereto, framed and adopted a Constitution of a State government, which is Republican in form, and the Legislature of said State has duly ratified the amendment to the Constitution of the United States, proposed by the 39th Congress, and known as Article XIV.

Therefore, be it enacted, that the State of Arkansas is entitled and admitted to representation in Congress as one of the States of the Union, upon the following fundamental conditions:

"That the Constitution of Arkansas shall never be so amended or changed so as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote, who are entitled to vote by the Constitution herein recognized, except as a punishment for such crimes as are now felonies at common law, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

A delegation with the North Carolina Constitution and several members of Congress arrived here to-day.

SENATE.—Court prolonged—secret session resulted in the adoption of the following: that the Court adjourn to Monday at 11 o'clock when it will consider the rules, and vote on the several Articles which shall be taken at noon on Tuesday, without debate. The speeches shall be limited to fifteen minutes on the entire subject, and not on each Article. The members may file written opinions within two days after.

The vote on the Articles to be published with the proceedings. Motions regarding form in which the Chief Justice shall put the question to Senators were tabled.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, May 7, P. M.

It is stated that adjournment to Monday was at the instance of Chase who desires time to reflect on the proper manner of putting the questions.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR,

ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.

By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

A BOOK FOR ALL SECTIONS AND ALL PARTIES.

THIS GREAT WORK PRESENTS THE ONLY complete and impartial analysis of the causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the fluctuations from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr Stephens, from his position as second officer of the Confederacy.

To a public that has been surfeited with APPARENTLY SIMILAR PRODUCTIONS, we promise a change of fare both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire everywhere manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book ever published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa., reports 72 subscribers in three days.

One in Boston, Mass., 103 subscribers in four days.

One in Memphis, Tenn., 106 subscribers in five days.

Send for Circulars and see our terms, and a full description of the work, with Press notices of advance sheets &c. Address

To those who have engaged in this business we have given our fullest patronage, we return our thanks. FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1868.

WIFE AND I.

She who sleeps upon my heart
Was the first to win it;
She who dreams upon my breast
Ever reigns within it;
She who kisses off my fire
Wakes the warmest blessing;
She who rests within my arms
Feels their closest pressing.

Other days than these shall come—
Days that may be dreary,
Other homes shall greet us yet,
Hours that may be weary;
Still this heart shall be thy home,
Still this breast thy pillow,
Still those lips meet thine as oft
Billow meeteth billow.

Sleep, then, on my happy breast,
Since thy love hath won it;
Dream, then, on my loyal breast—
None but thou hast done it;
And when age our bloom shall change
With its wintry weather,
May we in the self-same grave
Sleep and dream together.

PROVERBS OF JOSH. BILLINGS.—It strains a man's philosophy the worst kind to laugh when he gits beat.

All of us complain of the shortness of life, yet we awl waste more time than we use.

Don't mistake arrogance for wisdom; many people have thought they were wise when they were only windy.

The man who kant git ahead without pulling others back is a very limited cuss.

The principal difference between a luxury and necessary is the price.

Whenever the soul is in grief it is taking root.

"Give the devil his due," but be careful that there ain't much due him.

After a man has ridden fast enuf he never wants to go slow again.

These familys who are really fust-class never are afraid that they shall git cheated out of their respectability, while the cod fish families are always nervous lest they git mite.

It won't do to stir up a man when he is thinking, any more than it will a pan of milk when the cream is rising.

It is easy enuff to raise the devil, but he's a hard crop to reap.

The onla sure recipee tew govern mankind with, is the rod; you may festoon it with flowers and case it with velvet if you please, but it is the rod after all that does the business.

We are told that a contented man is happy, and we might have been told at the same time that a mud turtle could fly if it only had wings.

WHO WILL BE GOAT?—During the late war, a soldier of one of the New York Regiments, who was home on a furlough, visited New York city for the first time in his life. The boys in "blue" were by no means given to the blues when away from the tented field, nor as much given to avarice as the celebrated Daniel Dancer, who wore hay on his feet to save leather. Our soldier was no exception to the general rule, and was making the most of his limited sojourn in the Metropolis. Going up one of the streets, one night, after paying homage to Bacchus during the day, he fell in with a crowd of colored people on their way to church. In his state of inebriation he very naturally went with the crowd into the church, thinking it a theatre, and congratulating himself on his getting into the house without having to pay the usual fee, and anxiously awaiting the curtain to rise. The officiating clergyman arose and said:

"My braddering, in dat las great day when de trump ob de Lord shall blow, and de sheep shall go to the right, and de goats to de left, who wants to be goat?"

After a short pause he said again, raising his voice:

"I say, who'll be de goat?"

A long pause followed when he said in a louder tone:

"Who'll be de goat?"

The soldier supposing the performance delayed for a person to represent a goat in some play, exclaimed:

"Look here, old fellow, rather than to have this thing play out, I'll be goat!"

LONG FACES.—What a sad mistake it is to suppose that a man should be gloomy because he is devout; as if misery were acceptable to God on its own account, and happiness an offence against his dignity. A modern writer of much wisdom and pith of writing, says:

"There is a secret of unbelief amongst some men that God is displeased with men's happiness, and so they slink about creation, ashamed and afraid to enjoy anything!"

These are the people of whom Hood says:

—"They think they're pious when they're only bilious!"

A good man is almost always a cheerful one. It is fit that bad men scowl, look blue and melancholy, but he who has God's smile of approbation upon him should show its radiance in his countenance. Dr. Johnson said he "never knew a villain in his life that was not, on the whole, an unhappy dog." And well he may be. And an honest man—the man with a good conscience—let him enjoy his sleep, and his dinner, and the love of his wife, and the prattle of his children, and show a beaming face to his neighbor. Surely there is no worse theology than that which teaches that He who has given such fullness of joy to beast and birds, delights in the misery of men; or, that having been filled with gladness, we ought to give the lie to His goodness by wearing faces beclouded with woe, and furrowed by pretended unhappiness.

LOVE FOR THE DEAD.—The love that survives the tomb, says Irving, is one of noblest attributes of the soul. If it has its woes, it has likewise its delights; and when the overwhelming burst of grief is calmed into the gentle tear of recollection, then the sudden anguished and convulsed agony over the present ruins of all that we most loved, are softened away into pensive meditation and all that in the day of its loveliness.—Who would not sorrow from the heart, though it may sometimes throw a passing cloud over the bright hour of gayety, or spread a deeper sadness over the hour of gloom; yet who would exchange it for even the song of pleasure or the burst of revelry? No, is a voice from the tomb sweeter than songs; there is a remembrance of the dead to which we turn from the charm of the living.

BE KIND TO YOUR SISTERS.—Boys, be kind to your sisters. You may live to be old, and never find such tender, loving friends as these sisters. Think how many things they do for you; how they love you, in spite of all your ill-temper and rudeness, how thoughtful they are for your comfort. Try and be thoughtful of theirs. Be ever ready to oblige them; to perform any little office for them that lies in your power. Think what you can do for them; and if they express a wish, be ready to gratify it, if possible. You do not know how much happiness you will find in so doing. I never yet knew a happy and respected man who was not in youth kind to his sisters. There is a beautiful poem which says:

"Be kind to your sisters—not many may know,
The depth of true sisterly love;
The wealth of the ocean lies fathoms below
The surface that sparkles above."

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B., except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whom it is made, may stamp it before it is used; and if used after the 30th of July, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot afterwards be effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument, to appropriately stamp it, renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrants, publication, &c., in which case these, as the original process, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original process.

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and is subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits of legal proceedings.

Certificates of loan in which there shall appear any printed or written evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand or at any time designated, are subject to stamp duty as Promissory Notes.

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof, of the amount secured by the mortgage, at time of its assignment, there must be affixed a stamp or stamps, denoting a duty of five cents.

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamps to which this instrument is liable, under the law, may be affixed and cancelled by one of the parties.

In conveyance of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required and when necessary bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp only being the highest rates required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.

NEW ARRANGEMENT

FOR THE SENTINEL.

Published in the City of Raleigh, N. C.,

Daily, Semi Weekly and Weekly.

William E. Pell, } Editors.
Seaton Gales, }

In view of the scarcity of money, and the severity of the times, the Proprietor of the SENTINEL has determined to reduce the terms of the paper, to commence after the 31st. DECEMBER, next, and to make such improvements in its general character as will commend it to the patronage of an enlightened public.

In POLITICS it will be thoroughly Conservative, advocating, at all times:

A strict observance of the Constitution of the United States, and the harmonious Union of equal States;

Obedience to law and the enforcement of order;

The supremacy of the civil over the military, in time of peace;

The equality of the three co-ordinate branches of the government;

The sovereignty of the States over their own internal affairs, in strict conformity to the Constitution;

The maintenance of freedom and justice to all, without distinction of color, but the supremacy of the white race as the governing class;

Opposition to Radicalism in all its phases.

As a NEWS journal, it shall be equal to any.—The principal markets will be regularly published.

Its LITERARY character shall be maintained and improved, by contributions from our best writers.

Finally, the SENTINEL will seek to be the special promoter of the educational, moral and economical interests of the people of North Carolina.

☞ We ask every Conservative in the State to become our Agent to extend the circulation of the SENTINEL. The events of 1868 will be exciting and important. The WEEKLY SENTINEL should be in the hands of the great body of the people—The terms are now so low that every one will be able to pay for it.
